The mark

NAME

ciphra — from 'cipher'. Privacy and encryption are the core promise.

MARK

A superscript asterisk (*) sitting tight to the final letter of the wordmark, at cap height — exactly as a footnote marker or trademark symbol would sit. It is not decoration. It signals that something important is annotated here.

WHY *

The asterisk means three things simultaneously:

- Password masking (ciphra keeps your data *****)
- Wildcard (covers every condition, not just one)
- Footnote (there is more here than meets the eye)

OFF-GRID

The mark is rotated 8° clockwise. One arm is fractionally longer. The diagonals are slightly unequal. It reads as designed, not typed — a considered typographic decision, not a keyboard character.

MOOD

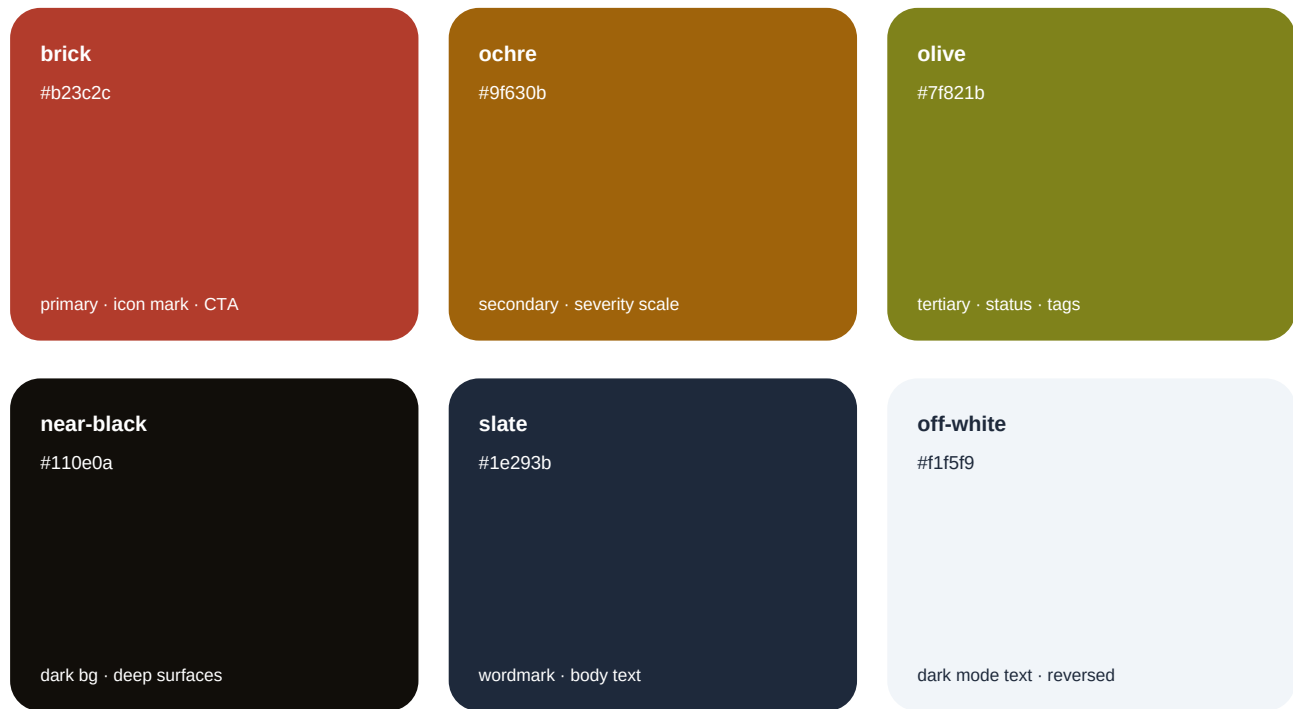

Built for people who are already tired of clinical tools.
Confident. Warm. Precise. A private annotation on your health.

Colour palette

USAGE RULES

- Brick is the sole primary brand colour. Use it for the mark, links, and primary actions only.
- Ochre and olive live in the data layer — severity scales, status tags, condition categories.
- Never use brick, ochre, or olive as large background fills. They are accent colours.
- The dark background is #110e0a — warm near-black. Never substitute cold navy or pure black.
- On dark backgrounds the mark shifts from brick to coral #e07360 to maintain warmth and contrast.

SPACING & CLEAR SPACE

- Minimum clear space around the wordmark: equal to the cap height of the 'c' on all sides.
- The superscript mark must never be separated from the wordmark — treat ciphra* as one unit.
- Minimum wordmark width: 80px on screen, 25mm in print.
- Do not recolour the wordmark. Do not outline or shadow the mark.
- On photography or coloured backgrounds, use the dark variant with the near-black overlay.
